5. The Student complies with all other rules and conditions as set forth in these Policies.

The College of Law will only recognize Study Abroad Credits where the student has obtained a grade of "C" or better (or its equivalent as defined by the granting institution) for a given course. Finally, the College of Law will recognize a maximum of fifteen Study Abroad Credits in partial fulfillment of the JD Degree. This maximum may be waived in special, if rare, circumstances.

At any time, the Dean's designee may consult with the International Studies Committee on questions of student eligibility, course work approval, and requests to exceed the maximum of fifteen Study Abroad Credits.
